Exploring the Creation Story

The following lesson can be used with any age and any number of children. It is based on a simple three-step Montessori style, whereby the teacher reads the story, there is a time of reflection and wonder, and then children are invited to participate in an activity or station of their choosing. The idea is that children are not directed but are free to be creators themselves as they choose their own response to the story. This simple lesson template could be used for any of the 30 Bible stories.

PREPARATION:

You will need to organize several different stations around the room. Some ideas might be:

- A reading area consisting of different Bibles, bookmarked with the Creation story, or picture books relating to Genesis 1. You could also include visuals of the Creation story in this area.
- A sensory station, consisting of sand in plastic trays or on baking trays. Simple tools for pouring, scooping, or shaping are optional.
- An art station with paints, crayons, and markers.
- Playdough table.
- A listening station with headphones, where children can listen to sounds of the ocean, nature sounds, or music such as Vivaldi's four seasons.
- 'Make Your Own Creation Scene' station with glue, scissors and the Creation background and animal sheets that are included after this lesson.
- A Prayer Station, with battery operated tealights and a prayer box. Provide paper so that children can write or draw their own prayers.

- 1. Gather the children in a circle, or seat them in front of you. Ask them to close their eyes as you read p.10 of the I Wonder Bible and the first line of p. 12. Then ask them to open their eyes.
- 2. Continue reading the rest of the story, making sure that the children can see the pictures.
- 3. When the story is finished, say something like: Now, let's have some wondering, quiet time. I'm going to ask some questions, but you don't have to answer them aloud. You can just think about them.
- 4. Read the I Wonder questions slowly, giving the children time to ponder. If they respond verbally, that's fine, but silence is good too!
- 5. Say: Let's thank God for this wonderful world. Invite one of the children to pray, say your own simple prayer, or say a corporate prayer, inviting those children who are comfortable to name one thing God created. You begin by saying: Thank you, God, for the amazing world you created. We thank you for ______ (let the children name what they are thankful for.)
- 6. Let the children choose which station they would like to go to in response to the story.

Make Your Own Creation Scene

Print the pictures on adhesive or regular paper. Cut them out. Glue them onto the next pages to make your own Creation scene.
